Post office: Hearing is set, C of C in favor

The U.S. Postal Service will present a proposal to upgrade the Canyon Post Office on Wednesday Aug. 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center, C. T. Davis, Amarillo postmaster, said. Along with Davis, Dale Fowlkes from the Oklahoma City office and Roland Cook of the real estate division in Dallas are to be present at the hearing.

The proposed site of the new postal facility is bounded on the north by Fourth Avenue, south by Fifth Avenue and encompasses the city block bounded on the east by 14th Street and west by 13th Street.

A petition was signed by around 40 plus homeowners residing along Fifth Avenue west of the Courthouse in downtown Canyon who oppose the proposed sight.

Jim Palmer who started the petition said that it represents both a protest of the location and a protest against the building of a new postal facility when the postal service is in an economic quagmire.

Palmer had talked with United States Congressman Jack Hightower on the subject of a new post office. Hightower said that as an independent agency of the government, the postal service is governed and operated without political considerations. He affirmed that he would be happy to forward Palmer's petition and other information to the proper governmental departments.

The people who signed the petition feel that the construction of the postal facility in block 43 of the city of Canyon would cause their homes and property to be depreciated.

The petition affirms that the residents believe that such a postal facility would not only cause for additional traffic on the city street, but would warrant the removal of trees along the street for future widening of the street, thereby decreasing the beauty of a section of the city which was established many years ago.

Chamber backs building

The Chamber of Commerce favors the construction of a new post office and is preparing a statement in its favor, board members decided Monday night.

Letters were received by Congressman Jack Hightower and Senator Lloyd Bentson in reply to letters sent to them by the Chamber of Commerce. Hightower said that he hopes what is done is what is best for the city of Canyon. Bentson said that there should be a public hearing within three weeks. He said that he hopes that some of the members of the Chamber of Commerce are present to voice their opinions.

John Childs said that he feels that "there is a need to be there at the public hearing saying that we want it and need it." Phil Langen recommended the drawing up of a statement supporting the post office, which was approved.

In other business, the financial statement was discussed. The total income for April, May, June, and July was $6,665.30. The balance is $1,943.31. Manager Roland Black was asked to give a forecast at the next meeting for the balance of the year for expenditures versus income that there might be.

In discussing the resignation of board member Dr. James Hanson, the board decided to wait and include the unexpired term on the regular election ballot in November. Four people will be elected for three years and the fifth one will be for the unexpired term for two years.

A purchase order was approved for a feasibility study of an industrial park to be built in the Canyon vicinity. A letter was received by L.W. Curfum of the Economic Development Administration in Lubbock who recommended the approval for $5,000 funding of it. The recommendation now has to be approved by the Department of Water usage up despite high rates

Water usage this summer exceeds that of last year but it is still too early for Canyon city manager Glen Metcalf to judge the effects of the higher water rates set this spring.

The sharp hike in rates that penalizes large consumption with higher rates was designed partly to encourage water conservation.

It will probably take several more summers to establish a valid comparison, Metcalf said.

In comparing usage last summer and this one, Metcalf pointed out the difference in rainfall. Last year was a relatively wet summer and this year has been exceptionally dry.

"Still, he said, "it may be interesting to see how far it is this year over last year."

Metcalf said he would tally the figures for usage at the end of August.

Despite the drought, Metcalf said he thinks that residents have been conserving water. Water usage this summer has not set any records for consumption, he said.

Yet, according to records in the water office, usage of 70,000-80,000 gallons in a month is common and some families have used more than 200,000 gallons in a month. Water bills this summer have climbed to as much as $150.

Metcalf said that some residents have drilled private wells to use for their lawns.

"If they can use that to reduce their water bill, that's fine," he said.

In pushing for the progressive rates to encourage conservation, Metcalf said last spring that maintaining a green lawn would become a luxury.

About time

It really is time for a property reappraisal, county commissioners agreed after hearing from county tax assessor Mrs. Audrey Bruse Monday.

A five-acre parcel of land just off the Canyon Expressway near 58th Street recently sold for $216,017, she said.

It is valued on present tax rolls at $500 an acre or a total of $2,500.

WT budget off to hearing

Top West Texas State University administrators will take the first step tomorrow down the road to biennial funding as they present their proposed budget to the Legislative Budget Board in Austin.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, president; Dr. Ray A. Malzahn, vice president for academic affairs and Hermas L. Miller, vice-president for financial affairs will present the WTSU request for $17,137,976 for the first year and $13,970,997 in the second year.

Funding for the first year will include some $4 million for building projects, Dr. Watkins said. About $2.5 million is planned for a major overhaul of the campus utility network.

There are some gas leaks in the lines, and a general lack of utility tunnels throughout the utility system, he said.

Already, $320,000 has been allotted within the present budget to upgrade part of the utility system.

Most of the items in the university budget are set by a formula derived by the university coordinating board, Dr. Watkins said.

WT will be asking Friday for 100 percent of the formula, he said.

Within the formula, Dr. Watkins said the university is seeking $574,000 the first year and $418,000 in the second year for special items.

This includes projects to enrich the women's advisory program, the program to cut the university attrition rate, and a special request for additional funds for women's intercollegiate athletics.

The key feature of the budget is salaries, Dr. Watkins said, for the faculty, administration and staff.

Faculty salaries are projected to amount to $5,187,472 in the first year of the budget, up some $400,000 from the present funding.

In the second year, faculty salaries are expected to increase another $400,000 to $6,016,317.

This budget, Dr. Watkins said, will be people oriented.

"I feel like a university without the proper staff and that staff appropriately rewarded is not likely to be an effective institution," he said.

Tomorrow's presentation is expected to be brief, he said, probably no more than a half

Robinson set for farm agent

A WTSU graduate who was reared in Happy and is now extension farm agent for Potter County will become the Randall County extension agent Sept. 1.

Bob Robinson, 27, will replace retiring farm agent John Brazzil, who leaves August 31.

Robinson served as assistant county agricultural agent in Potter County from July, 1970 until 1972 when he became county extension agent there.

In Potter County, Robinson worked primarily with livestock and 4-H.

During the last six years, 4-H membership there increased 200

County losing road signs

Traffic signs are being taken down almost as fast as they are put up, county road maintenance supervisor Herb Hilliard said.

Hilliard reported Monday to commissioners court that a state-funded road sign replacement project was completed August 1 with all the new signs installed. But, he said, already as many as a half dozen signs have been taken down, probably as a prank.

"I think when college starts again, we'll see some more gone," Hilliard said.

He estimated the cost at $800 to replace an adequate supply of signs.

Penalties for stealing signs ranged to a maximum of $500 fine, County Judge Woody Pond said.

He suggested that having a road sign in one's possession would be risky.

"If they have a sign in their possession, it's up to them to prove they didn't take it. If they have it in their possession, they're going to be charged," he said.

Hilliard also reported that dragging has begun on county roads.

The commissioners asked District Attorney Randall Sherrod to have an attorney present for their meetings.

"It seems we've got in hot water occasionally," Commissioner Jim Fletcher said. "I'd like to have one of you in our midst at all times."

Sherrod said Monday was his office's busiest day but that he would try to make an attorney available to the court.

Fletcher then said perhaps the court should consider hiring an attorney.

Assistant DA Rick Wilcox told the court he had only a few more additions to the appraisal service contract, before submitting it for signatures of the County and Southwest Appraisal Co.

On the ambulance service contract, Wilcox suggested drawing a separate contract for the county.

Randall County is the only local government entity who has not signed the contract with Metropolitian Ambulance Company.

Commissioners are in a rush to get the appraisal contract signed so that work can begin.

They also asked county tax assessor Mrs. Audrey Bruse to suggest a salary range for a county appraiser who will train with the appraisal firm to carry on county appraisals after the Truck plows path through hiway median

A truck-load of potatoes overturned and blocked the highway early Wednesday morning when the driver of a truck-trailer lost control on the exit ramp of U.S. 60 and plowed through a concrete median.

The driver, James William McCall of Winter Park, Fla., was taken to Palo Duro Hospital with cuts and bruises. He was kept overnight and was reported in good condition Wednesday.

The truck was approaching the intersection of the off-ramp on 60 and the southbound lane of U.S. 87, according to police.

It crossed two lanes of U.S. 87 before hitting the median, where the truck plowed up and crumbled a section of the median.

The tracot and trailer broke apart and overturned dumping potatoes and scattering truck parts for nearly 50 yards.

The northbound lane of U.S. 87 was blocked for about two hours.

Road fund shortage to slow, not halt, I-27

Reduction in future highway revenues will slow but not halt construction on Interstate 27, a Department of Highways official said Tuesday.

Ed Timmons, public affairs officer for this district, said the department will continue buying right of ways for the interstate leg south of Amarillo to the Swisher County line.

The interstate, funded with 90 percent federal highway revenue and only 10 percent by the state, will not be affected as much as some other projects by the anticipated shortage in state funds.

I-27 was one of several area projects approved Monday in a study made of the highway department by McKinsey and Company, Inc., a management consulting firm.

The study recommended that all right of way purchases be limited I-27 and a section of I-40.

Highway funds are expected to dry up in the coming years due to less gasoline consumption, and decreased weight of vehicles. Two of the main sources of state funding have been the gasoline tax and registration fees based on the weight of the vehicle.

In addition, the highway department has felt the impact of inflation, the study noted.

The McKenzie report predicted that with the present funding, there would be no state funds at all to match federal funds by 1985.

Commenting on the construction project underway here to build an overpass for Hunsley Road over the Canyon Expressway, Timmons said the overpass was being constructed first and that the farm to market road east of the overpass to Washington would be started this fall.

The bridge and road are funded through two separate programs.

Protest set on auditor

The arrangement that will allow the new county auditor to continue his private business has drawn fire from another Canyon accountant.

Gene Glazener will go before commissioners court Monday to air his objections.

Speaking, he said, primarily as a taxpayer but also as a CPA in competition, Glazener said, "I will talk about the pay, the salary that has been authorized, and about the hours contemplated in earning that salary for 60-70 percent of his time. I don't care for that arrangement. I am concerned with the pay authorized."

Late show

Blooms last one night

There was a suggestion of royalty in that plant, befitting its status as a celebrity.

A small knot of people gathered in the greenhouse, watching the tall, bushy plant in its tub.

It was early still, only about 10:30 Monday night. The big show would come about midnight, said expectant experts George Kuehler and Lee Kirkendall.

The plant was a night blooming cereus, a tropical bush that displays its large, waxy-white flowers for one night only. And Monday was the night.

The blossoms were still about three-quarters open. At their peak, they would measure about 10 inches across and about a foot long. There were about 50 blooms on the plant.

Fewer buds remained closed and would bloom the next night, Kuehler explained.

The cereus is a very difficult plant to grow in artificial conditions, Kuehler and Kirkendall said, and it rarely blooms outside its natural habitat.

This plant blooms regularly from July through October at two week intervals, Kirkendall said, although this is the most blooms it has ever had.

The bush is 18 years old and was given to Kirkendall by his grandmother. It may live to be 40 years old.

It grows in South America, southern Mexico and in Asia. Only a particular species of moth can pollinate the blooms, Kuehler said. They have tried hand pollination but never successfully.

An edible fruit is produced by the tree in its natural setting, they said.

Several hundred new plants have been started by this one over the years, they said. But a tree with any age to it is rare. At full height, the cereus may grow as tall as 20-40 feet.

Kirkendall and Kuehler are owners of McCormick Road Greenhouses.

In spite of the examples of success of professional liars it pays us ordinary folks to stay pretty close to the truth.

A HAPPIER TIME — Greta nuzzles her sons.

Dog's death from rare cancer may aid research of disease

BY LAURIE TELFAIR

Greta is a dog that died.

More precisely, Greta was a two-and-a-half year old Weimaraner who died of a lung cancer rarely seen in dogs. She was one of only 20 reported cases in which the disease has been found.

She belonged to John and Mist Wilson of Sunday Canyon, and had little exposure to the environmental factors thought to be factor in human lung cancer.

The country air she breathed was clean, not polluted with chemicals and gases found around cities and industries. She occasionally was exposed to John's cigarette smoke.

Because the disease, known clinically as bronchiogenic carcinoma with two per cent hypertrophic osterpathy, is so rare in dogs, Greta's ailment was given several diagnosises before the lung tumor was discovered.

About the end of May, Greta's eyes became matted and inflamed. Mist took her to Canyon veterinarian Dr. J.L. Markham, who diagnosed the trouble as a virus and began treatment.

When Greta didn't improve Dr. Markham suspected leptrospirosis, a contagious disease somewhat commonly found in dogs.

Mist next took her dog to Dr. William P. Swann in Amarillo, who took blood tests, urine samples and ran other tests before concluding that Greta did have a virus.

He changed his opinion a few weeks later, as she became sicker. This time, Dr. Swann took hip x-rays and decided that Greta was suffering from a bone virus that would run its course in about six to nine months.

As Greta continued to weaken, Dr. Swann did more tests and began to suspect lung involvement.

He tested for heartworms, a parasite that invades the blood stream and spend part of its life cycle in the lungs. With that test negative, he x-rayed Greta's lungs and ran a barium x-ray.

None of the tests revealed the answer.

The next stop was to take Greta to Texas A&M for examination at the veterinary college. Mist left Canyon on July 8, stopping overnight in Dallas.

At College Station, the veterinarians repeated many of the earlier tests and x-rays and, like Dr. Swann, found nothing.

On July 12, a team of veterinarians did exploratory surgery and found a large tumor in the right lung that had already attached itself to much of the primary tissue around the lung, including the heart. They removed the abnormal growth, and felt they had arrested the cancer.

But Greta was weak and it was doubtful she would live through the surgery, Mist was told. She did, and recovered with amazing rapidity. Her withered hindquarters regained strength and her eyes cleared.

The Wilsons drove back to College Station to get her on July 19. Because her disease was so rare, the college used her case for teaching and made no charge for the surgery. Even, so, the bill for her care was $150.

Back home, Greta's recovery slowed and then began to reverse. She developed an infection. With antibiotics, her temperature returned to normal but she was weak.

Last week, she was x-rayed again and the Wilsons got the news they suspected: the tumor had returned. They decided then to have her killed when she could no longer endure life.

They took her home with pain pills and watched her, waiting for the time to take her back for the last time to the veterinarians. They almost took her Saturday and decided they would take her for sure Monday.

Through it, Greta had kept a hint of her old hooligan spirit. She perked her ears at the sound of her name and wagged the stump of her tail.

Saturday she refused food and drank only a little milk and Sunday morning she again refused to eat.

Sunday afternoon, the Wilsons left Greta in the house and took her 5-month-old son from the only litter she ever bore and went to a fun-match, a sort of practice dog show, in Amarillo.

He won third place in a large class of puppies and they were happy. They left soon to return to Greta.

She was dead when they got home.

They called Dr. Swann and took her body to the clinic to ship to A&M for further study, if the veterinarians there wanted to do an autopsy.

"Maybe someday they'll find out what causes cancer," Mist said. "Maybe Greta will be able to help."

Fund drive begins here for clinic

A drive to raise funds for the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center was kicked off here Monday with a talk by Buddy Stephens, the center's executive director.

Joe Gidden heads up the drive in the Panhandle. Goal for the area has been set at $1.2 million. No specific quota was set for Canyon.

Stephens said plans call for building and equipping a facility of some 23,000 square feet. The building will be constructed adjacent the children's portion of High Plains Baptist Hospital.

Dr. Jack Walker, Canyon, is president of the hearing center board.

He told the group Monday that projected facilities will enable speech therapy students at West Texas State University to receive national certification and provide them with one of the best programs in the state.

In its 17 years of operation the center has served 4,500 patients from Canyon, according to Stephens. He noted that some 6,600 people were served by the center during the past year.

The center now has a staff of 27 full time persons.

He noted that the budget for the center is $368,000 this year with 11 percent of that amount being supplied by Amarillo's United Way and the remainder from $200,000 from the Texas Education and the remainder from fees, industrial clients and consultation service.

He said that it will not be necessary to come back to the people of the area each year for operating capital noting that this is fairly well assured through existing and projected income.

The Community Improvement Program is co-sponsored nationally by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Sears, Roebuck and Co. The seminar conducted with the cooperation of the National University Extension Association, marks the beginning of a two-year program of community improvement, 1976-78.

Clubs affiliated with the General Federation of Women's Clubs will compete for prizes which include a top state award of $400 and a top national award of $10,000, to be presented during 1978. The seminar is one of five regional training sessions which will focus on the CIP Action Plan.

Mrs. Brandon is a member of the Heritage Woman's Club. Also attending from this state is Clayton F. Devitt from Dallas of Sears, Roebuck and Co., Mrs. Robert N. Tipps, TFWC President; Mrs. E.N. Summerour of Dalhart, Top of Texas District CIP Chairman; and the 13 other District CIP Chairmen.

Early registration up at WT

The preregistration program for university freshmen here is up about 12 percent from figures this time last year, Dr. Donald Cates, WTSU dean of admissions and registrar, said this week.

However, Cates attributes the rise to a greater percentage of total freshmen choosing preregistration rather than an overall increase in students.

The preregistration program is held five times during the summer to give beginning students a greater share of individual attention for the orientation and class selection process.

The program takes a day, or a day and a half if the student wants to get advanced standing through examination, Cates said. Credit may be earned in about 20 courses ranging from history to chemistry and math.

In addition to being a convenience to new students, the preregistration program helps overall recruitment for students, Cates said.

"By coming in early, they help spread the word in their own hometowns," he said. "It has had a positive effect in the past."

Square dance lessons begin here Aug. 16

Canyon Capers Square Dance Club will begin a new series of square dancing on Monday, August 16.

Anyone interested in taking the lessons should contact a member of the club, call Bob Costley, 353-3726 for further information. Those interested in taking the next series of square dancing lessons are encouraged to meet with the club Monday evening, August 16, at 8:30 p.m. in the Randall County Junior Livestock Building.

The club's most recent meeting was a welcome back for Knox and Bernice Day with Randy Costley in charge of calling. Tom Packard and Knox Day called tips during the evening. Guests and members were served homemade ice cream and cake.

Guests present were the Whirly Birds and Hi Plains Promenaders of Amarillo, Donny Crow, Brenda Oliver and Ricky and Collette Dugan.

Youths held on marijuana

They were booked on felonies for possession of over four ounces.

Soil district election set

A director from zone III of the Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District will be elected Aug. 14 in voting to be held at Ralph Switch elevator at 2 p.m.

James R. McCasland is the present director and is eligible for re-election to the five-year term.

To be eligible to vote in the election, a person must own agricultural land within the zone and live in Randall County. A husband and wife are both eligible to vote.

Zone III is that portion of Randall County lying west of U.S. 87 and south of FM Road 1714 and the county line on the west and south.

Library skills class planned

West Texas State University students who want to learn more about the University's library can do so in a classroom atmosphere this fall.

According to Dr. W.M. Stoker, head of West Texas State's department of school services, Library Science 101 will be offered for the first time this fall.

"It is designed," Dr. Stoker says, "to help students to utilize the vast resources of a university library and should apply to any field of study." According to Dr. Stoker, the course can be taken for one, two or three hours' credit. It'll be taught Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:00 a.m. or 1:00 p.m. the same days.

Mrs. Elva Deer, a professor in the school services department will teach the course.

Differing assignments for two employees

By PAT ALTHEN

Despite differences in their assignments, two recently hired local employees share some opinions about their work.

The two are Carroll Wilson, assistant to the Randall County commissioner's court, and Kevin P. Evans, administrative assistant to the Canyon city manager.

Each views his job as an opportunity to do his part in improving the quality of life for area residents. Due to the nature of their work, each plays a different role but with a similar commitment.

Wilson, as former editor of The Canyon News, covered commission meetings for six years, so his "new" territory is familiar.

He said he "would like to make a contribution toward saving the taxpayers' money and helping the commission perform its duties" while working in the recently created county post.

Evans is working directly in government for the first time.

He explained that he gets "the most satisfaction out of doing a good job for Canyon . . . half the people that live here don't know what a good town they have."

Commenting on the new experiences, he observed, "I don't care how long you go to school, you don't learn nearly what you do in a short time on the job."

Both mentioned the role of the people in influencing government and related it to their respective positions.

Evans is impressed with the high level of facilities and services city residents seem to expect. He said that generally "the people get what they want in a city."

He sees his duties as helping to see to it that needed facilities and services become a reality.

Wilson said he seeks to "insure the people are getting the service that the law requires and that they demand in a businesslike way."

Aside from their motivation and newness to their work, their functions are as much different as they are similar.

A major area of difference is in the creation of the jobs.

The county assistant job was created by the Randall County commission and duties of the job were laid out by the body.

The city assistant job, on the other hand, is a part of the city charter (section 5.06) and duties are outlined under the heading "city clerk."

Educational qualifications of the two men for their positions also differ.

Evans expects to complete requirements for a bachelor's degree in public administration this December. Wilson has a bachelor's in journalism and a master's in government.

Both have attended West Texas State University. Wilson received both degrees from WTSU, and Evans will graduate there.

Salaries for the two jobs differ also, reflecting differences in responsibilities and education.

Wilson's salary is set by the commission at $13,200 annually, plus the use of a car.

A monthly salary of $721, plus a 5% increase after a six month probationary period, is set by the city for Evans' job.

When his salary is computed on a yearly basis, the difference between the two comes to over $4,000 the first year.

Each of the men hopes to accomplish much in the coming months.

Evans has spent most of his time lately working on the Southeast Park project. He said, "I'm excited about that, especially now that the deadline is getting closer."

He hopes to remain on the job long enough to see the parks plan through to completion. Evans said he thought it would be particularly rewarding to see the final results of all the planning and work in a completed park.

Another project that will become increasingly important to him is handling community development. He has been reading extensively on the subject lately in order to give his best efforts to the assignment.

Wilson is presently involved in a study of fees of office charged by county officials.

He said the study concerns what each office requires to operate for a year "possibly with an eye to justifying legislation . . . for an increase in fees."

He expects to be turning attention soon to the health insurance program for county employees, since rates are expected to increase Sept. 1.

Other areas concerning Wilson in the near future will be the need for a facility for runaways and truants in the area and a brief analysis of a proposed law giving counties ordinance-making powers.

How do the two feel about what they're doing?

Wilson said he hopes to add "new ideas and a new perspective on county government." He thinks his position offers a little different outlook on county business, and this could be an advantage.

Evans commented that since city management is a field that requires mobility, he knows the time will probably come when he will have to leave Canyon.

He says leaving would be very difficult because of his attachment to the city and its people.

And, as for his job of one month, "It's never boring; there's always something new and different happening."

Fall workouts begin

The Canyon High School football team began fall workouts Monday in preparation for their season opener at Lubbock on Sept. 4 against the Monterey Plainsmen.

Coach Deane Wright said that he has about 68 people out this season. He said, "They are in pretty good shape. I am real pleased with them and they have a good attitude. They are working trying to get better."

Nine offensive starters return to the Eagle team. In the backfield returners include quarterback Ricky Cooper, halfbacks Gary Ward and Joe Luquette along with fullback Jonathan Hull. On the line, center Len Schmidt, guards Elliot Berry and Drew Hetzler, tackle Cliff Adams and tight end John Prater will provide needed strength for the offense.

Defensively, the Eagles return five players back from last year's team. Elliot Berry will be a linebacker while Drew Hetzler and Tab Keener will handle the chores at defensive tackle. Jonathan Hull will be the defensive end and at halfback is Joe Luquette.

Coach Wright said, "We have some on defense who played a lot but did not start. We probably aren't as strong as last year defensively as it was our defense who kept us in the games."

Coach Wright is very optimistic about his team who last year finished third in district 1-AAA with a record of 2-6-2. The Eagles should be well prepared by the time district competition draws near as the major portion of the non-conference games are with Class AAAA teams.

Volleyball games over

Hackamore team members wound up as winners of the Summer Recreation volleyball tournament this week with 15-12, 11-15 and 15-10 games over the UCM #1 team.

In final action preceding the championship the UCM #1 defeated Calvary #1 with scores of 15-3, 3-15, and 17-15. Hackamore earned their right to the championship game play by defeating Lewis Airspeed #1 with scores of 15-11, 9-15, and 15-4.

Semi-final action for the consolation bracket pitted the BSU against Maintenance with BSU winning 15-7, 13-15, and 16-14. Other semi-final action in the consolation bracket saw the First Baptist team defeating UCM #2 by scores of 15-6 and 15-9.

Final action in the consolation bracket was won by the BSU with scores of 15-11, 4-15 and 15-13 over the First Baptist.

Water for lake?

Plans to see how many gallons of water can be pumped out of a well at Buffalo Lake will probably take place next week Larry Wynn administrative clerk said.

Wynn said that a well was dug in late June to try to restore water to the lake. Buffalo Lake, for years a playground for Panhandle residents, ran into water quality troubles over five years ago when it became polluted from upstream sources.

Federal officials decided about five years ago to allow the lake to dry up and to drain off water. Since that time, the lake's south end has had only slight amounts of water from rainfall.

Wynn said that after the testing that they wanted to put a windmill on the lake to see if it does a sufficient job. If it does, then the pumping process will take place in the lower dike.

It is hoped that from the drilling a continuous water supply will be provided to carry on the refuge's waterfowl management and maintenance program.

Sheriff posse slates roping

The Randall County Sheriff's Posse is sponsoring a Junior Team roping for youth 19 and under on August 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Sheriff's posse arena.

The entry fee will be $17.50 per team with money being paid back to the winners of the contests based on 2 head average.

Jim Ward and Red Doyle are the co-chairmen of the roping commitee. There is no admission charge to the event.

University registration

Fall registration will be conducted Friday and Saturday, August 27 and 28 in the West Texas State University activities center.

A special registration will be conducted Wednesday, August 25 for the Amarillo evening classes. The registration will be at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building of the Vocational Technology campus of Amarillo College located near the Veterans Hospital.

A total of 686 freshmen have already enrolled at WTSU in the pre-registration held during freshman summer orientation. This count is up 73 over last year's count.

Fall classes begin Monday, August 30.

Research grant available

A Phi Delta Kappa Research Grant of $200 has been awarded to Gene Parker, Director of Placement at West Texas State University.

The grant is for the purpose of rechanneling and identifying hard placed students into fields experiencing shortages.

Requirements for applying for the Phi Delta Kappa Research Grant include an honorary membership and a project that is worthwhile to students and area schools.

The money will be spent on research of general placement, seminars, travel, mailouts and surveys.

Article wins first place

An article submitted for contest by Ann Brown has taken first place in the recently judged Panhandle Pen Women's contest.

The 17 entries submitted were judged by the Odessa Writer's Club. Other local winners were Bessie Patterson of Hereford, second place; and Geneva Berry of Canyon, third place for both articles and poetry.

Next regular meeting of the Panhandle Pen Women, which is open to both men and women interested in writing, will be conducted at the Travelodge West, Amarillo on September 21 beginning at 10 a.m. Visitors are always welcomed.

Band try-ons

Canyon High School bandsmen need to go by the Monarch Cleaners to be fitted for band uniforms. They will need white gloves, white band shoes and white suspenders.

Seniors will be fitted on August 16-17; juniors on August 18-19 and sophomores on August 20-24.

Business tonite

A business meeting for Canyon Senior Citizens Association has been called for 6 p.m. this evening, August 12, to precede the regular weekly supper session at 7 o'clock.

All local residents, aged 55 and over, are invited to join the membership for the potluck supper session and games which follow.

Membership in the group is a slight $2 fee annually and may be obtained at any weekly meeting on Thursday evening in the Senior Citizens Building at 1719 5th Avenue.

HOW TO ADMINISTER EYE DROPS TO CHILDREN
It is sometimes a difficult task to administer eye drops or other opthalinic preparations to children. This is especially so when it has to be done without assistance. Recently a new method has been developed.
The parent sits on the floor or a flat surface. The child's head is placed firmly between the parents thighs. The parent then crosses his/her legs over the child's lower trunk and legs. In this manner, the parent's hands remain free to open the child's eye lids and administer the medication.

Auditor . . .

Canyon CPA Bill Tirey was chosen last week for the auditor's job by district judges George Dowlen and Bryan Poff. His salary was set at $12,960 a year and he accepted the job with the understanding that he would be able to maintain his accounting firm.

In addition, he was authorized to hire an assistant in the county office.

County commissioners questioned Tirey sharply at the regular session Monday, but confirmed his appointment.

Tirey's salary and the as yet unspecified salary for his assistant will push the auditor's office considerably over the $11,300 commissioners say they had planned for the office next year.

Commerce in Austin.

The sight of the park has not been determined yet. Four locations will be studied with the sights to be in or adjacent to the city limits.

Board member Ray Grimes gave a committee report saying that there is scheduled another retail activity committee meeting to study a proposal by Channel 7 in Amarillo for TV spots to have people to come to Canyon to shop.

Phil Langen reported that the city was given some land southeast of the city that encompasses a body of water. It is to be used for a park and recreation area. Langen said that adjacent to this is an area of land that the Parks Committee will study in order to provide some baseball parks.

hour. Miller has prepared slides to illustrate the building fund requests.

Following this hearing, the next step will be to appear before the State House Appropriations Committee and then the Senate Finance Committee after the legislature convenes in January.

Later, the Legislative Budget Board will recommend funding. The WT budget may not be approved until the end of the session.

County . . .

initial one is completed.

Mrs. Bruse, who said qualified appraisers are difficult to find, mentioned a salary in the $15,000 range.

The commissioners formally appointed William Tirey as county auditor, but questioned him sharply about his plans to retain his office and hire an assistant to begin work August 19.

Tirey told the commissioners he would work as long as necessary to do the auditor's job.

"You're telling us now that it is a full time job and this morning you said it was a two or three days a week job," Fletcher said.

Commissioner John Fulgenzi said the county had had an excellent auditor's office for about $8,000 under Mrs. Betty Hodges' supervision.

"Now, we're looking at $20,000 a year in the same department," he said.

Tirey receives $12,960 a year and the assistant's salary has not been set.

Griffin said the county had only allotted $11,300 for the auditor's office in the budget.

"I think it should be pointed out that we did not budget for that amount of increase in salary," Griffin said.

The auditor was appointed by District Judges George Dowlen and Bryan Poff.

Fulgenzi said an assistant might not be needed if all county offices are doing the proper job.

The commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization, reduced taxes on farm property owned by Mrs. S.L. Johnson. She complained because her taxes had been raised from $145.37 to $189 this year.

Her property is being taxed as irrigated land, she said, but the wells no longer produce any water. The commissioners reduced the valuation to reflect dry land property and thereby lowered her county taxes to $145.19.

The commissioners decided to pay mileage to administrative assistant Carroll Wilson for now and arrange for a car for him later.

'TEXAS' cast members awarded scholarships

A full house was entertained with the "TEXAS Originals" production Sunday evening in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State University.

The annual production consisted of dramatic acts, dances, songs and other entertainments provided by cast members of the 1976 outdoor musical drama. No admissions were charged, however, donations were made resulting in $100 scholarships being awarded to cast members.

Receiving the $100 scholarships were Ryan Smolik of Katy, Texas, Rosemark Burkhart of Spearman, Chris Spence of Berea, Ohio, David Burrell and Bruce Cain of Abilene. All except Cain will continue their studies of theatre at West Texas State University this fall and Cain will pursue his career field with studies at Southern Methodist University.

Announcement was also made of two $500 scholarships to cast members David Burrell, who will be studying theatre technique at West Texas State this fall, and to Ron Williams who will be working on his master's degree at the university. Williams, a WT graduate, played the role of Calvin Armstrong during the summer season.

The two $500 scholarships were a result of a $1,000 anonymous donation received earlier for distribution to cast members. The scholarship stipend will continue annually as long as the "TEXAS" show is being produced.

Airplane freaks have fun event

By FARRIS ANN MORRISON

AIRPLANES, AIRPLANES, AIRPLANES

FIRST OF ALL, Lewis and I are airplane freaks, and Bonner and Glynda Markham are good friends of ours. Bonner and my husband fly together and even conspired to build a hangar for their planes out here. I say "conspired" because it was supposed to have been a painting studio for me! Oh well, men and their toys.

Two Saturdays ago, Bonner and Richard Smith plus two more flew to Oshkosh, Wisconsin for the National Experimental Aircraft Association's annual fly-in. Most members either build their own planes or restore an antique.

Richard Smith is building a P-51 Mustang, ¾-size from ground up, Bonner has a Cessna 120, and Lewis (my husband) has a Cessna 140-A, both classified as antique aircraft as they are 30 years old or over. Back to Oshkosh: They went on Saturday and returned Tuesday.

Over 100,000 people were there Sunday to see hundreds and hundreds of aircraft. Tuesday was "Tora, Tora, Tora" day and many planes from the movie were on view, including some Japanese Zeros. A couple of the featured speakers were Duane Cole, a superb aerobatic stunt pilot from Texas, and Paul Harvey, who flies a Learjet: Charlie Hillard of Ft. Worth was there with his team, the Red Devils. They have won many aerobatic championships including the International meet, flying Pitts Specials.

The Canadian Snowbirds, a precision jet team like the Blue Angels gave an exhibition. There were also exhibits, booths for builders' supplies and parts, and seminars, many for wives of pilots.

The oldest airplane was a 1918 model similar to the Wright brothers plane, from there on up to the very latest models of all the major aircraft manufacturers. The guys camped out under the wing of the Cessna 210 — that seemed to be the most popular mode of accommodation.

To give you an idea of the (flying), traffic, Paul Harvey stated that O'Hare Airport in Chicago is the busiest airport in the U.S. servicing about 2,000 planes daily. Oshkosh lands approximately 15,000 daily during the fly-in!

Besides Bonner and Richard, June and Oran Cooley, and Dennis and Linda Mosley went from our area. Next year, I hope we can go! We'd go crazy among all those beautiful airplanes.

SPEAKING OF THE Markhams, Bonner and Glynda were at Sudan, Texas this past week end for his mother's family reunion Sunday. Over 100 members met at the Community Center for visiting and barbecue catered (thank goodness!) by Underwoods of Lubbock.

The youngest member was Amber, 6½ months, their daughter; the oldest member was Laura Erwin from Grenville, New Mexico, Bonner's aunt.

SHIRLEY CATES HAD a "home" vacation; her husband, Terry, and Troy, 10, went with Rusty Richards and his son Jay to Red River. They camped overnight at Eagle's Nest, fished at Red River, then on to Taos.

Last weeks' fishing reports in this column were nil, however, the Cates caught twelve beautiful rainbow trout. Makes me want to go.

HAVE YOU EVER been on an archeological dig? There's one at Plainview being explored by Wayland Baptist College. Sarah Edwards and Phyllis Hicks took Jay and John down.

The students were very glad to show them around the site, and the boys got to see the main attraction of bison bones. The site is at the Plainview dump — seems rather appropriate, doesn't it?

If you're interested, go down and see what they're uncovering.

THE HICKS JUST returned from Houston where John swam in the TAGS meet, (Texas Age Group Swim). Amarillo Aquatic Club came in fourth overall among sixty teams and nearly 500 swimmers.

In the 200 medley, John and his team members all received bronze medals for a 3rd place; in the 200 free style, they placed 4th.

Phyllis didn't care for the 105 degree weather, but they stayed on the beach. They pier and surf fished both and swam (until they found out about the sharks). They brought home lots of shells, visited Sea-Arama and Galveston.

Coming through Dallas, the family enjoyed Six Flags and did some shopping at Olla Podrida, a unique shopping center.

ERNESTINE AND BILL Harp, along with daughter Dina, son, Duane, and his wife, Anita, were in Dallas this past week end. The occasion was Ernestine's niece's wedding. The Harps also got in on the pre-nuptial parties.

THE COMMUNITY EDUCATION Committee met Monday to make plans for the fall classes. The classes will begin September 13th, and all classes will be over by Thanksgiving. There will be some classes open to youth as well as adults.

Various handwork and craft classes will be offered as well as a GED course if as many as seven can be found. This course if free and so important — please scout around for prospective members.

The Committee is preparing a survey for the benefit of our Community. Be thinking of things you'd like to express: needs, likes, dislikes, etc. The survey is to be conducted this fall.

SHERRIE CATES WILL again be chairman of Falcon Fan Club. This organization of volunteer parents has really eased the work load of the teachers; besides being a valuable contribution, it's really fun! Do sign up at registration.

Another reminder: Be sure to join PTA, too; a good investment considering all our Gene Howe PTA has done for our kids.

JEFF CATES AND Mark Collier were preparing to leave for Austin to visit Jeff's girlfriend, Cheri Webber. Sherrie (Jeff's mother) was talking to her sister at Waco who suggested she come, too. So with about ten minutes notice, she was ready and on her way. The boys dropped her in Waco with Donna Hietmiller, her sister, and went on to Austin.

These spur-of-the-moment trips generally work out better than planned-for-months trips.

THIS YEAR WE hope to be trying Spice Day. The last hour of school one day a week will be devoted to crafts, art, stories, many activities for the students; sort of a supervised free time handled in groups of 10-15.

We need teachers and suggested activities. Be thinking of how you can help. Everyone can do something. Doesn't it sound exciting!

IF YOU'RE NOT prepared for school, you'd better hustle — so had I! Have a busy week; remember next week the kids have to go to bed early. Hurray!

I haven't had a really adult conversation all summer. Have you ever hollered "Get out of that refrigerator!" only to find it was your husband?

Son's birth is announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ross James Hartnett of Rt. 2, Canyon, announce the Aug. 2 birth of a son, Eric James, at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon.

The baby weighed 7 pounds, 2¾ ounces and measured 19½ inches at birth.

The father is the assistant superintendent for Palo Duro Canyon State Park, 12 miles east of the city, and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Liddell and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hartnett, all of Fort Davis, Texas.

Phone Line 655-7121

A NUMBER OF girl friends were bidding a fond farewell to their classmate, Jana Johnston, on Wednesday with a surprise party being held at the Mario Coleman home.

Miss Johnston and her sisters are holding a sister's garage sale this week end to clear out some collected paraphernalia before moving to Amarillo where their father is teaching at Amarillo College.

The whole Johnston family will be missed by Canyon as they have been active in all sorts of things including the First Baptist Church and Girl Scouting, where Mrs. Johnston has been an adult leader for a number of years.

Canyon's loss shall be Amarillo's gain and we wish the Johnston's much luck in their new endeavor.

IT IS NOW time to mark off next week end as Happy is planning to roll out the red carpet for their annual Happy Days Celebration on August 20, 21 and 22.

Events will include a "Spirit of America" parade on Saturday, barbecue served up by the Jaycees and Jaycee-Ettes, and lots of fun type activities for entertainment including rodeo events.

So — go South — and celebrate with the home folks at Happy next week end.

* * *

ED AND NANCY Collier and their children have returned from a two week summer vacation to the Western States where they saw a lot of scenery and visited relatives.

The Collier's made the two week trip in their brand new gas saving Honda and had loads of relaxing fun — until they reached Dumas on the way home.

At the "ding dong" city, they were involved in an automobile accident totalling out their new vehicle and causing Mom to have a broken ankle.

* * *

ANOTHER "HOBBLER" RECUPERATING at home this week is Carl Miller who had surgery on his foot last week at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

* * *

SIXTH GRADERS PLANNING to take band through the public schools will be meeting this week with Gene Howe sixth graders meeting at the school cafeteria this evening, August 12, at 7:30. The sixth graders of Rex Reeves will get their chance tomorrow evening, August 13, at the all-purpose room of the school beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Funeral held Tuesday

BS in nursing now available

Flexibility and mobility are keys to the West Texas State University baccalaureate nursing career ladder program.

"Our credit by examination program enables registered nurses, licensed vocational nurses, corpsmen and other persons having nursing backgrounds to attain a bachelor of science in nursing from West Texas State in a relatively short time," says Dr. Hazel Aslakson, dean of the WTSU School of Nursing.

Since 1973, through the credit by examination program, 75 RN's from Amarillo, 35 from Lubbock and 15 from Midland have received BSNs from West Texas State, according to Dr. Aslakson.

Currently 25 RN's from the Midland-Odessa area have enrolled in Nursing 200, which is being offered by the WTSU School of Nursing the second summer session at Odessa College.

"This course is a transition nursing course preparatory for challenging nursing courses for advanced placement in the nursing program," says Dr. Aslakson.

The course includes philosophy and objectives of the program, concerns of the baccalaureate education, trends in nursing and the nursing process.

"We at the WTSU School of Nursing believe that nurses who can meet required skill and knowledge levels of the baccalaureate nursing program should be provided the opportunity to demonstrate their abilities through challenge examinations," Dr. Aslakson says. "This belief is consistent with the modern concept of mobility from nurses without needless repetition of knowledge already gained from other nursing programs."
